

DENTAL IMPLANT – INFORMED CONSENT FORM

Patient Full Name: _____ Date: _____

INFORMATION & ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Dental implant treatment is a surgical procedure performed to replace missing teeth by placing titanium implants into the jawbone.

Successful implant treatment depends on multiple factors, including bone quality and quantity, healing capacity, oral hygiene, smoking habits, alcohol consumption, systemic or medical conditions, medications, and adherence to post-operative instructions.

Despite proper planning and appropriate clinical care, implant failure may occur, including failure of osseointegration, infection, bone loss, implant mobility, or the need for implant removal.

Additional procedures such as bone grafting, sinus lift, membrane placement, or soft tissue procedures may be required either before or during implant surgery depending on clinical findings, bone condition, or healing response. Such procedures may involve additional fees not included in the initial quotation.

Implant surgery may involve pain, swelling, bleeding, bruising, infection, nerve irritation, temporary or permanent numbness, sinus-related complications (especially in the upper jaw), and delayed healing.

Smoking, alcohol consumption (especially during the early healing period), poor oral hygiene, uncontrolled systemic or medical conditions, use of certain medications, and failure to follow post-operative instructions significantly increase the risk of implant complications or failure.

Alcohol consumption during the healing period may negatively affect blood supply, wound healing, and osseointegration.

Such outcomes are considered clinical risks and complications, not clinical errors, negligence, or improper treatment.

Implant treatment does not include guarantees related to travel expenses, flights, accommodation, transfers, loss of income, or treatments performed by third parties.

Regular dental check-ups, professional maintenance, and long-term oral hygiene are essential for the longevity of dental implants.
