

POST-OPERATIVE INSTRUCTIONS

ALL-ON-X FINAL PROSTHESIS

The final All-on-X prosthesis is designed for long-term function and aesthetics but requires lifelong care and maintenance.

Chew evenly on both sides and avoid excessive biting forces, especially during the adaptation period.

Maintain meticulous oral hygiene to prevent peri-implant disease and long-term complications.

Brush around the prosthesis and cleanable areas daily using correct techniques.

The use of an oral irrigator (water flosser / oral shower) is essential to clean underneath the prosthesis and around implant-supported areas.

Cleanable areas, airflow, saliva passage, and minor speech changes (including lisp) are normal design features and do not indicate treatment failure.

Gum recession, soft tissue changes, or changes in facial appearance may occur over time and are considered biological processes.

BRUXISM, NIGHT GUARD & MASSETER BOTOX

If bruxism (teeth grinding or clenching) is present or suspected, the use of a night guard is mandatory.

Failure to use a prescribed night guard may result in fractures, cracks, chipping, or damage to the prosthesis.

Such damage related to bruxism or failure to use protective appliances is NOT covered under any treatment guarantee.

In cases where Masseter Botox is recommended, the patient is responsible for receiving the treatment and must provide proof if requested.

Failure to undergo recommended Masseter Botox treatment may significantly increase the risk of prosthesis damage and void any applicable guarantees related to bruxism.

Avoid smoking and excessive alcohol consumption, as these significantly increase the risk of implant complications.

Regular professional check-ups and maintenance visits are mandatory for long-term success.

Contact the clinic immediately if pain, mobility, fracture, or unusual symptoms occur.

Failure to follow these instructions may compromise implant health, prosthesis longevity, and may void any applicable treatment guarantees.

Patient Acknowledgement
